

LENSWORK

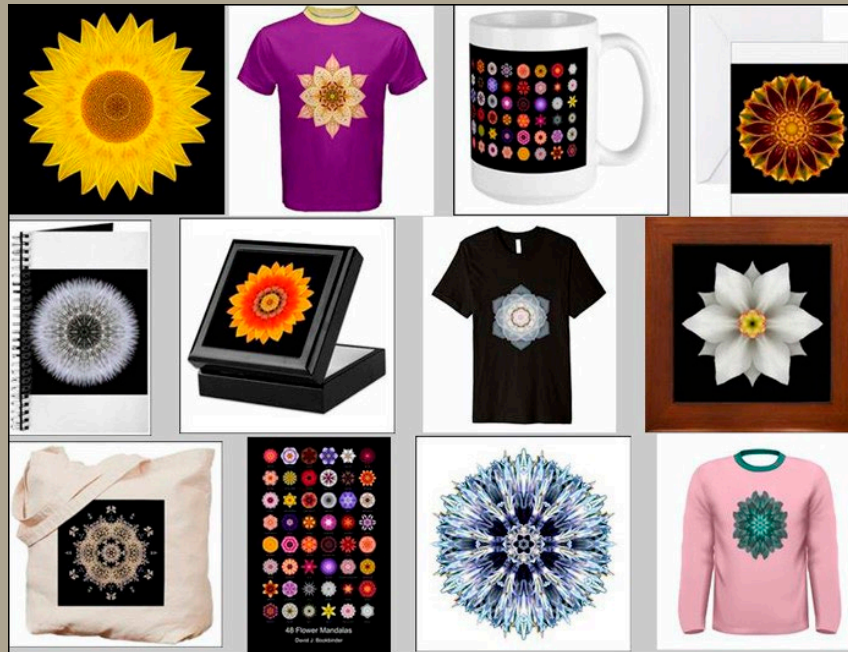

Alumni News

David J. Bookbinder — Danvers, Massachusetts

www.davidbookbinder.com

Flower Mandala Products

As many of you know, I've been making Flower Mandala images for a very long time. What you may not know — because I've never really promoted them — is that I've also created a wide variety of Flower Mandala products that are available on various websites. These include T-shirts, prints on paper or canvas, greeting cards, journals, posters, mugs, decorative tiles, calendars, tote bags, and more. They're available on Amazon.com, FineArtAmerica.com, CafePress.com, and the Hong Kong site CowCow.com.

I'm going to Hong Kong next month to present at a yoga conference that's using one of my Flower Mandalas as their signature image. I'll be giving some workshops on cultivating creativity and on the art of balance, and because I figured some of the participants may also be interested in Flower Mandala products, I've pulled many of them together onto a single "Merch" page on my Transformations Press website.

I thought you might like to know about these products, too! Here's a sampler, in no particular order. Click here to see the whole selection.

Bookbinder in LensWork Extended #69 Flower Mandalas

Using flowers — or more accurately, parts of flowers — Bookbinder creates mandala images that fascinate and mesmerize us.

Back issues of LensWork Extended perpetually available here.

