Workshop & New Book

Bill Gibson, 104 Years old

Environmental Portraiture

Forthcoming Photo Workshop
May 10th - May 13th, 2018
Pittsfield, Massachusetts

Our location day this year will be at the church made famous from the movie, Alice's Restaurant, which Arlo Guthrie now owns and has created The Guthrie Center and Foundation, Great Barrington, MA. A dramatic environment to learn and improve your lighting and photographing people skills. For more information visit shelby-lee-adams-events.blogspot.com.

I have a new color book coming out end of May titled, The Book Of Life (Steidl). More information on my book and workshop is on my website.

"Throughout my life I have experienced cultural diversity, and continue to travel between two worlds: the 'hollers' and hills of Kentucky, and the cities. I was born in Hazard, Kentucky, and raised primarily in a holler called Johnson's Fork in Letcher County, where only mountain people had lived for generations. With the locals, my work has strictly followed word-of-mouth and personal introductions."
