New Image

While traveling through New England in October, I couldn't resist a trip to Cambridge, Massachusetts. Cambridge is home to Harvard University and M.I.T. but my goal was to photograph The Stata Center on the M.I.T. campus. The building, also known as Building 32, was designed by Frank Gehry and opened in 2004.

The Art of Form & Function

"As one who naturally gravitates, resonates, and appreciates the art of architecture, I suppose one could said that these images represent how I perceive the man-made world around me."
